Section I
Background and RFP Introduction

A. Overview of the Gila/Pinal Workforce Investment Area

The purpose of this Request for Proposals (RFP) is to identify a qualified provider for youth services under Title I of the Workforce Investment Act (WIA) of 1998 (Public Law 105-220). Gila County (Administrative Entity) in conjunction with the Gila/Pinal Workforce Investment Board, the governing body that oversees expenditures of Workforce Investment Act funds, makes funding available to provide youth development services in Gila and Pinal Counties, a designated Local Workforce Investment Area (LWIA) for the following youth programs:

- In-school youth programs;
- Out-of-school youth programs;
- Special youth programs for the following populations; and
 - Youth Offender (in- and out-of-school)
 - Pregnant and Parenting Youth (in- and out-of-school)
 - Foster Care Youth (in and out-of-school)
 - Homeless Youth (in and out-of-school)
 - Youth with Disabilities (in and out-of-school)
 - High School Drop Out (out-of-school)
 - Youth of Incarcerated Parents (in and out-of-school)

It is the intent of this RFP to fund comprehensive approaches that maximize available resources and provide an array of services that meet the unique needs of the targeted population. Responses are sought that would build upon the development and/or enhancement of collaborative relationships within a community, across programs and between systems. Gila/Pinal Workforce Investment Area is seeking interested organizations that demonstrate the four critical characteristics listed below:

- Competent and cooperative management with a vision for developing and supporting positive youth development activities;
- A Commitment and ability to ensure that youth-orientated staff are available to serve low-income youth;
- A high level of innovation and creativity in designing project and learning activities in which young individuals can participate; and
- A willingness to work with community partners and educational organizations in the planning and implementation of these innovative approaches to youth development.

Respondents are asked to demonstrate not only a sound approach to providing evidenced-based, research-based, or best practice youth workforce programming, as well as to support collaborative efforts of stakeholders. Examples of stakeholders are secondary schools, charter schools, community-based organizations (both small and large), faith-based organizations, public social service organizations, employers, business associations/networks, post-secondary education and training institutions, parents and the youth themselves.

B. Funding Availability and Fiscal Requirement

The approximate federal funding from the U.S. Department of Labor and the Workforce Investment Act funds is $500,000 which is administered by Gila County, acting as the fiscal agent, and the Gila/Pinal Workforce Investment Board. Funds will be allocated at approximately 30% for in-school youth and 70% for out-of-school youth. Please note that available funding amounts in the RFP are subject to change.

Gila/Pinal Workforce Investment Area
Section I
Background and RFP Introduction

Contracts will be executed on July 1, 2012 and conclude June 30, 2013. Contracts may be renewed in one-year increments for three additional years based on satisfactory performance and the availability of federal funding.

For the purpose of this RFP, proposals will be accepted in the following populations and service categories:

| Population | Service Category |
|-------------------------|-------------------------|
| General | In and Out-of-school |
| Youth Offenders | In and Out-of-school |
| Pregnant & Parenting | In and Out-of-school |
| Homeless Youth | In and Out-of-school |
| Youth with Disabilities | In and Out-of-school |
| Foster Care Youth | In and Out-of-school |
| High School Drop Out | Out-of-school |
| Basic Skills Sufficient | In and Out-of-school |

For the purpose of this RFP, the agency submitting the proposal will be considered the direct contractor. The agency will be responsible for ensuring compliance with all terms and conditions of the contract, administration and fiscal management of the contract, and will be held accountable for program results. Subcontracting services is allowable as long as it is fully disclosed in the proposal. The proposal has to clearly define the roles of each organization, e.g. youth services, program oversight, etc.

Agency is responsible for:

- Invoicing in accordance with the contract terms, and the procedures outlined by the Gila/Pinal Workforce Investment Board;
- Maintaining an accounting system that separates the contracted funds from other funding sources; and
- Maintaining a payroll ledger, and submit general ledger and journals as required;
- Employing an accrual method of accounting;
- Maintaining fiscal forms, reports and documents pertaining to this contract for five (5) years after contract end date;
- Implementing an approved cost allocation plan in accordance with the One-Stop Comprehensive Financial Management Technical Assistance Guide;
- Contractor’s monthly invoice;
- Any additional financial report that support the expenditures; and
- Maintain an inventory list of purchased equipment.

A detailed, line-item budget must be submitted with the RFP. At least five percent (5%) up ten (10%) shall be allocated to the summer component. The Gila/Pinal Workforce Investment Board reserves the right to withdraw funding in the event the scope of work is not followed as stated in the RFP.

In order to efficiently utilize WIA youth funding and ultimately reach as many young people as possible, it becomes increasingly important to leverage a wide range of public and private resources to support youth workforce services. Projects are encouraged to demonstrate either in-kind or cash match resources from other funding sources.

Gila/Pinal Workforce Investment Area
Section I
Background and RFP Introduction

These in-kind or cash match resources must directly support the proposed program activities and must be documented with a Letter of Commitment/Intent, Memorandum of Understanding or other appropriate documentation.

In-kind and cash match resources can support any particular budget item as long as it supports program activities. Cash match is defined as a contribution of funds made available to the respondents to be used specifically for program activities. Respondents are required to assign a monetary value to any in-kind contributions. Examples of in-kind resources include but are not limited to:

- Staff time from lead and/or partner agencies (directly related to services to youth);
- Facilities (where services occur);
- Participant expenses (e.g. internship/work experience wages, incentives, supportive services, tuition, books, fees, tools or clothing for employment);
- Equipment (directly related to services to youth); and
- Marketing, outreach and/or media support

There are many types of funding streams that could support either in-kind or cash match resources. The following are provided as suggestions only and include but are not limited to:

- Private foundation/philanthropic support;
- Businesses, business associations or networking groups;
- State of Arizona funding including but not limited to Juvenile Justice, Health, and Education; and
- Federal funding such as direct Department of Labor grants, Job Corps, Office of Juvenile Justice Delinquency Prevention, and Youth Build.

Gila/Pinal Workforce Investment Area
Section II
Program Scope of Work and Specification

A. Purpose of WIA Youth Program

The Workforce Investment Act of 1998 (WIA, Public Law 105-220) includes the following statement of intent:

The WIA will provide workforce investment activities, through statewide and local workforce investment systems, that increase the employment, retention, and earnings of participants, and increase occupational skill attainment by participants, and as a result, improve the quality of the workforce, reduce welfare dependency, and enhance the productivity and competitiveness of the nation.

Youth development principles are woven throughout the Workforce Investment Act and guide the WIB's approach to administering WIA youth programs. Contractors should incorporate youth development strategies and principles into programs that support high school completion, skill acquisition, gainful employment and productive citizenship for young people.

The Gila/Pinal Workforce Investment Board also identifies the following values and/or principles that proposals must address:

Youth Responsibility: Youth are expected to take personal responsibility for their success. They will be involved in developing their plan, selecting the activities and programs that meet their employment needs, achieving appropriate educational competencies and achieving their program goals.

Strategically Meeting Needs of the Community: Programs should meet the needs of at-risk youth populations and under-served communities while providing a broad range of services that meet the academic, employment, and youth development needs of young people. Programs should be aimed at ensuring that economically disadvantaged youth in-school and out-of-school have the opportunities and support needed to become productive members of the workforce and achieve economic self-sufficiency.

Strong Youth Development Model: Effective programs are built on a well-conceived and implemented approach to youth development. A commitment to youth development is exemplified by a conscious and professional reliance on youth development principles, including high expectations, caring relationships, holistic service strategies that build responsibility and character, and a view towards youth as resources. Key strategies include providing adult mentors for each youth participant, integrating social and support services into programming, addressing transportation barriers, accommodating a variety of learning styles, and providing meaningful and strategic follow-up services for young people when they exit in the effort to ensure their continued success.

Skill Development: Effective programs clearly emphasize the development of skills, knowledge, and competencies that lead to jobs and careers. Programs should strongly link work, academic, and occupational learning. Key strategies include linkages to apprenticeships, community colleges and employers; transition services; and strategies demonstrating how participants can gain academic credit and skill credentials.

Involvement of Employers and Links to Local Labor Markets: Programs should have the strong involvement of local employers and should be linked to local labor market needs and growing economic sectors. Programs should provide effective connections to intermediaries with strong links to the job market and local and regional employers.

Gila/Pinal Workforce Investment Area
Section II
Program Scope of Work and Specification

Collaboration and Leveraging Partnerships: Programs are sought that demonstrate how partnerships and the involvement of the community will be utilized to meet the program goals. Involving the local community means developing formal and meaningful partnerships among educational institutions, employers, community-based organizations, private sector employers, and/or other organizations and members of the community interested in youth. Respondents are encouraged to access resources from these partnerships and use them in the program to provide quality youth opportunities.

For the purpose of this proposal, a collaboration is defined as a mutually beneficial alliance of groups or organizations that come together to achieve common goals. This alliance is characterized by well-defined relationships that include a commitment to mutual authority/accountability for success and sharing of resources. It is expected that it transcends individual agency strategies, and will integrate diverse missions, language and cultural concerns to focus on the needs of the youth. Collaboration is strengthened by a formal written agreement, which delineates the responsibilities of each group, organization or entity.

Producing Results: Programs should ensure that young people are gaining the skills to complete high school or its equivalent and transition into post-secondary education, advanced training or skilled employment. Programs should track these results and strive to continuously improve their programs and their outcomes for youth, based on information and data collected.

Academic Gains for Youth: Alternative education programs (either dropout prevention or dropout recovery models) will provide quality education that adheres to the State's standards developed in response to the No Child Left Behind Act (NCLB). The contractor's process must demonstrate progress towards the standards for success within NCLB.

The Gila/Pinal Workforce Investment Board believes that all eligible youth must be aware of services available in the One-Stop System. RFPs must clearly state how the contractor will provide an introduction to the Gila/Pinal One-Stop Centers and the resource available there. The introduction should be age and goal appropriate.

B. WIA Youth Guiding Principles

Because successful youth development depends upon smooth transition into phases of a young person's life, youth programs should also operate under the following guiding principles:

Year-Round Services: Services are designed to recruit and register youth on a year-round basis, including making services available for in-school youth throughout the school year. All youth services and activities must be available to youth twelve (12) months per year and be clearly aligned with youth development principles and goals.

Long-Term Support for Youth: Services feature strategies that span multiple years and will balance the needs of youth who would benefit from long-term support with youth whose needs are met through more limited interventions. Long-term support includes providing a smooth transition and pathways to remaining in school, high school completion, post-secondary education, job placement and training for occupations leading to careers that offer long-term self-sufficiency for older and younger youth.

Gila/Pinal Workforce Investment Area
Section II
Program Scope of Work and Specification

Accessibility: Services are easily accessible to both youth and employers, create a safe and youth-friendly environment, are accessible by public transportation, have information available via the Internet, and accommodate diversity.

Accountability: Services dedicated to continuing improving program design by seeking feedback from staff, youth and employers to continually refine the quality of the program services and activities provided for youth. Programs must have well-defined goals and processes that are easily understandable, measurable and accountable. These goals must emphasize participant progress and directly link activities to positive outcomes for youth.

C. Eligible Youth

WIA youth programs are intended to provide youth development services for economically disadvantaged youth, 14 through 21 years of age who may face barriers to staying in school, completing high school or finding stable employment. The program provides a full range of work-readiness, employment, education, and mentoring services through various community partner agencies and contracted youth service providers. Youth services, such as internships, work experiences, training opportunities, and assistance in the completion of high school or GED, are designed for youth who are in-or out-of-school.

The Workforce Investment Act also draws a distinction between younger youth (14 to 18) and older youth (19 to 21). This is done primarily to assist program providers in designing programs and developing Individual Service Strategies (ISS) to meet the youth development needs of the two different age groups. Also, the mandated program outcomes and performance measures are distinctively different for younger and older youth.

Youth must be identified as low-income as defined by Public Law and:

- Between the ages of 14 through 21 meaning they have reached their 14th birthday, but have not attained their 22nd birthday at the time of registration;
- A citizen of the United States or a non-citizen who is authorized by the Immigration and Naturalization Service;
- Valid Social Security number; and
- Selective Service registration, if applicable; and
